December 15—Peter Nogreck, a striker, shot dead by police in riot at North Wood street and Bloomingdale road.

December 20—John Donnelly, driver for garment maker, shot dead, police charge by strikers, at Milton and Chicago avenues.

Identification of the murderers of Donnelly is expected by the police to be facilitated by the confession of Albert Simmerot, who told Judge Himes today that he was one of the men detailed to "create excitement among the strikers."

Donnelly told his mother before starting out for work today that he feared she would not have a happy Christmas. He said he had feared for the past two weeks that he would be attacked by strikers.

Donnelly fell into the back of the covered wagon, which was riddled with bullets. The horse was struck by one of the bullets and ran wild, turning west on Chicago avenue in front of a street car in charge of Motorman E. Conkley.

The car hit the wagon and threw it against the curbstone, but Conkley, it is said, continued on without investigating.

NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

It is remarkable that under all the conditions and circumstances that The Times should show a gain in its advertising volume for the holiday season of 1919 over the same period of 1918; but facts are facts, and figures are incontrovertible. If The Times only held its own in this stressful period it would be a wonderful business showing. Hence to record a gain is gratifying to the publishers and a distinct achievement.

For the first three Sundays of December, 1919, a total of 1702 columns of advertising was printed. On the same three Sundays of 1918 the aggregate was 1690 columns. The climb is small but sure, and no local competitor comes within a stone's throw of the volume recorded.

Skipper Washed Overboard by Great Wall of Water—Schooner
Disrupted and Helpless Flotsam
Around for Days With Crew Suffering.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PENSACOLA (Fla.), Dec. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Disrupted, her skipper washed overboard and her crew shadows of their former selves because of the hardships they have undergone, the American schooner Doris lies at anchor off Puerto Cortes, Spanish Honduras, where she was taken by the United States cruiser Tacoma, several days ago. News of the wreck reached here today, in the shape of a wireless report sent by the station at Key West to the owner of the schooner, by the first mate, now captain of the vessel.

The Doris left this port for Belize, B. M., with a cargo of lumber. She was wrecked on December 13, when a great wave of water, which had been building up for several days, struck the schooner.

The wave was followed by a hurricane, which raged for three days, and that tore apart and wrecked the ship. Afterward the ship drifted about for several days and was finally picked up by the Tacoma and taken to Puerto Cortes, where she will be repaired sufficiently to enable her to reach a home port.

The provisional agreement for the amalgamation of the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Anglo-American Cable Company stipulates that the former will give the latter an unconditional guarantee of 2-4 dividend in perpetuity on the total capital of $35,000,000.

Santa Fe Holds Out in Rate
Case at Chicago.

Missouri River Rate Fight
To Be Repeated.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An implicit promise was demanded from the western railroads interested in the Burlington-Rock Island case, that they would not again question the right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to set through freight rates by Commissioner Edgar S. Clark, before he would consent to a postponement of the hearing of a similar case which was set for today.

The promise was given by all the railroads represented, except the Santa Fe, and the postponement was granted to some date within the next two months to be determined by the commission.

The railroad also promised a voluntary suspension of the proposed increased rates for the time of the continuance of the hearing for the continuation of the hearing.

The rates were to be argued upon today. They are practically the same as the rates in the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. This time, however, the railroad was committed with the commission of proof to justify the rates. The shippers were forced to show the rates were not justified in the previous case.

Three cases were set for the hearing today, all of which covered the same ground. The first was the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. This time, however, the railroad was committed with the commission of proof to justify the rates. The shippers were forced to show the rates were not justified in the previous case.

The second case was the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. This time, however, the railroad was committed with the commission of proof to justify the rates. The shippers were forced to show the rates were not justified in the previous case.

The third case was the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. This time, however, the railroad was committed with the commission of proof to justify the rates. The shippers were forced to show the rates were not justified in the previous case.

The fourth case was the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. This time, however, the railroad was committed with the commission of proof to justify the rates. The shippers were forced to show the rates were not justified in the previous case.

The fifth case was the case of the Missouri River rate case, which led to a two years' fight in the courts before the railroad decided to limit almost expired, and the proposed rates were again scheduled by the railroad, although the commission had a temporary order suspending them, when more complaints were filed. sought to assist in enlisting the interest and securing the contributions of many others at times by making my own gifts conditional on the gifts of others, and at times, by aiding by means of unconditional gifts to make the university as widely useful, worthy and attractive as possible.

"Most heartily do I recognize and rejoice in the generous response of citizens of Chicago and the West. Their contributions to the resources of the university have been, I believe, more than $7,000,000. It might perhaps be difficult to find a parallel to generosity so large and so widely distributed as this, exercised in behalf of an institution so recently founded.

"I desire to express my appreciation also of the extraordinary wisdom and insight which have been shown in conducting the affairs of the university. In the multitude of students so quickly gathered, in the high character of the institution, in the variety and extent of original research, in the valuable contributions to human knowledge, in the uplifting influence of the university as a whole, upon education throughout the West, my highest hopes have been far exceeded.

"It is these considerations, with others, that move me to sum up in a single final gift, distributing its payment over a period of many years to come, such further contributions as I have proposed to make to the university.

"The sum I now give is intended to make provision, with such gifts as may reasonably be expected from others, for such added buildings, equipment and endowment as the departments thus far established will need. This gift completes the task which I have set before myself. The founding and support of new departments for the development of the varied and alluring fields of science, including medicine, I leave to the wisdom of the trustees, as funds may be furnished for these purposes by other friends of the university.

"In making an end of my gifts to the university, as I now do, and in withdrawing from the board of trustees my personal representation, I am, I believe, able to state that I am acting on an early and permanent conviction that this institution, being the property of the people, should be controlled, conducted and supported by the people, and in extending the field of human knowledge, and in permitting simply to co-operate; and I could wish to consecrate anew to the great cause of education the funds which I have given if that were possible; to prevent the institution from becoming a mere relic of the past, and to the people of Chicago and the West; and to express my hope that, under their management and generous support, the university may be an increasing blessing to their children and to future generations.

"Very truly yours,

and Mrs. L. C. Bogliolo previous to his death. They alleged undue influence and the action has been in the courts since last March. After all testimony had been taken, Judge Timmerman reopened the case to hear new points.

Yesterday he handed down a decision that Loveland was feeble and undergoing a process of mental decay at the time he made the will, and that some of its provisions had been inserted without being suggested by the decedent. The court also held that while it was possible a father might exclude one child from inhering in his estate, it was not likely he would refuse to give anything to three daughters.

The case has attracted much attention and the decision came as a surprise to many, though Loveland was incapacitated months before his death. The Bogliolos will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

CHINESE EMBEZZLER CAUGHT.

Fought Extradition From Hawaii For Sake of Woman Who Eloped With Him at Time of Theft.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—A Chinese embezzler, who had been in the United States for some time, was successfully resisting extradition from Hawaii, Jue Yuen Mow, former treasurer of the Chinese Oriental Club, charged with the embezzlement of $15,000 of the funds of the club, was returned here today on the steamer Sierra in custody of Detective Sergeant Conlan, who arrested him in Honolulu.

Accompanying Jue Yuen Mow was Yung Chong, a woman of the local Chinese quarter, who is alleged to have deserted Chin Hin, who claimed her as his child, and eloped with the fugitive Celestial.

Jue Yuen Mow said he had no intention of embezzling the money of the club, which was formed for gambling purposes, and fought extradition only on account of the woman.

SALOON SWAMPED NOW RICH.

Fortune of $110,000 Left to Roustabout in Marysville (Cal.) Saloon After Years of Ups and Downs.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) MARYSVILLE, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) After twenty-nine years of ups and downs in California, Arthur Montag, known as "Fireball Bill," has fallen heir to an estate valued at $110,000, and has been lifted from the mean position of a saloon man in this city to that of a man of influence.

When Arthur Montag left his home in Germany in 1881 and settled in California, his wealthy parents in the fatherland attributed his love for roving to the wanderlust and made him regular remittances. After a few years they learned that he was dissipating, and cut off the remittances. Then he went from bad to worse and after thirteen years spent in Fresno, was ordered into this section, stopping in Sacramento and vicinity and finally landing in Marysville.

WOMAN REMEMBERS STATE.

Execis Trinity Parish House in Sacramento as Memorial to Husband Who Made Fortune in California.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Bishop Moreland, of the Sacramento diocese of the Episcopal Church, has just made public the name of the woman who gave $20,000 to build the new Trinity parish house on M street. She is Mrs. Thomas J. Emery of Cincinnati, Ohio, whose husband made his fortune in California and was a well-known figure in San Francisco for years.

A bronze tablet consecrating the building to the memory of Thomas J. Emery has arrived from the East and been placed in a niche. No ceremony marked this act, as the building was formally dedicated two months ago.

LUMBER RATES TO JUMP.

Water Lines Will Advance Tariff On Fir From North to California Points Shortly.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) PORTLAND, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Lumber rates to California points have taken another jump of 25 cents a thousand and still further advances are in prospect. That the recent frequent advances in the rate will result in increased cost of building operations in California is apparent.

Under the new tariff the tonnage quotations now are $4.25 for transporting lumber from San Francisco and $4.75 to San Pedro. The increase is attributable to the scarcity of tonnage. Every steam schooner on the Coast is fully employed, and many of the sailing vessels, some of which have been broken up, are taking out full cargoes of fir. Or late they have been loading grain in the hold and lumber on track. This practice will be continued until the surplus grain crop shall have been moved.

DIDN'T WED GIRL; MUST PAY.

Topeka's Reform Mayor Assessed $500 by Jury for Failing to Keep Promise to Marry Niece.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) TOPEKA (Kan.) Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) William Green, reform mayor of Topeka, must pay $500 for promising to marry Miss Selma Dalrymple of Wisconsin, his niece, and then refusing to keep his contract. This is the verdict reached by the jury which heard the case.

The Green case grew out of allegations by Miss Dalrymple that Green had asked her to come to Topeka and make her home at his house and had offered her a position as cashier in his retail grocery store. She came, Mr. Green paying her expenses. At the Green home she was assigned to a bedroom adjoining that of Green, separated by folding doors. She said Green repeatedly told her of his love and intention to make her his wife.

TOMATO PASTE CONDEMNED.

United States Marshal at San Francisco Seizes Shipment Made From Decomposed Vegetables.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Acting on an order of the Federal District Court here, the United States Marshal for the northern district of California seized a large shipment of tomato paste which arrived here today from New York.

According to the complaint, filed by the Federal Pure Food inspectors, the paste contains filthy decomposed vegetable substances so filled with bacteria as to be unfit for human consumption.

The shipment was made by Pietro Boncoroni, of New York, and consigned to A. Guirani & Bro., of this city.

In the campaign being waged by the officials against the interstate shipment of adulterated and unwholesome food products, the next step will be the seizure of a carload of oysters due to arrive here December 22 from Hoboken, N. J. Extraordinary precautions will be taken by the officials to prevent the shippers from dumping the cargo into the bay. According to a telegram received from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the shipment consists of oysters which were taken from polluted water.

ICE HOUSE BURNED.

TRUCKER (Cal.) Dec. 20.—Southern Pacific detectives have been summoned to investigate the destruction by fire of the new ice warehouse on the Pacific Fruit Exchange Company at Donner Lake, two miles west of here, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire broke out in the warehouse and one-half of this was melted in the fire. The ice warehouse was completed recently at a cost of $10,000. It contained machinery for hoisting and storing the ice, which is estimated to be worth $5000.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Job Kept in Family.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—Clarence A. Baker was appointed today by Acting Governor Porter to fill out the term as Superior Judge of Modoc county, his brother, Judge John H. Baker, who has resigned following his election as Congressman from the First District. The term extends until the next general election, two years hence.

Steamship Floated.

VANCOUVER (B. C.), Dec. 20.—The steamship Prince George was floated today from Parthia Shoal, at the entrance of Vancouver harbor, where she went ashore in a fog yesterday. The vessel was apparently not seriously damaged. Three tugs hauled her off at high tide, and she came into port under her own steam.

Spokane Grows Virtuous.

SPOKANE, Dec. 20.—All penny-in-the-slot machines have been removed and no more licenses will be granted by the city as a result of a hearing today in Mayor Pratt's office on evidence brought by the Theatrical Censorship Committee, charging the exhibition of pictures of an improper nature.

Let Me Tell You Something

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is to blame for her own wretched condition.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. Read what these women say:

Camden, N. J.—"It is with pleasure that I send my testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, hoping it may induce other suffering women to avail themselves of the benefit of this valuable remedy."

"I suffered from pains in my back and side, sick headaches, no appetite, was tired and nervous all the time, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman—and this valuable medicine shall always have my praise."—Mrs. W. P. Valentine, 908 Lincoln Ave., Camden, N. J.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am writing to tell you that I am pleased with your medicine. I have been sick for a long time with prolapsus. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have found that it is the right kind of medicine for me. I felt relieved after taking one bottle and I kept on taking it till now I am well and strong, and am able to do my work."—Mrs. Henry Kossow, 472 Genesee St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

WAR SQUADRON PACIFIC'S NEED.

California Senator Favors

Fortification of Big Ditch
Not Necessary.

Neutral Canal Zone Better
To Keep Peace.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) "I am in favor of keeping sixteen battleships on the Pacific Coast all the time," said Senator Perkins today.

"As for the fortification of the Panama Canal, I am opposed to it, and believe that neutrality would be its best defense. Switzerland and Belgium have not heard a hostile shot fired in a hundred years and, in my opinion, if we neutralize the canal there will be no trouble."

"We have the best fuel in the world in California and the cheapest. What is the use of talking about the lack of good steaming coal when we have oil piped to tide water and the production increasing steadily? With fuel depots in Hawaii, and perhaps in Manila and Cavite, we would be in an excellent position in that respect."

"We must have the channel to Mare Island deepened and the navy yard made ready to accommodate the ships of the fleet; oil burning apparatus installed on battleships not already so equipped, and then we want the fleet stationed in Pacific waters, where it is needed more than it is on this coast. I think military strategists who have nothing but the best interests of the country at heart will agree with me."

BOOZE AN EXCUSE.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In commuting today to life imprisonment the sentence of death passed upon John Wynne, at Honolulu, Hawaii, President Taft takes the view that intoxication may be urged in extenuation of a crime. Wynne, an officer on the steamer Roseana, was convicted of the murder of a man named McKinnon, the third engineer of that vessel, in Honolulu harbor. Returning aboard the vessel one night, Wynne, who was drunk, passed McKinnon's state room, saw him lying asleep, and smashed his skull with a hammer.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In order for a construction to be "a public work," it is not necessary for it to be attached to the soil. It may float. Such is the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. The point arises in a suit in the State of Washington as to whether the shipwreck steamer Lieut. Harris, being built in 1904 at the Puget Sound engine works for the army, was "a public work," within the meaning of the statute relating to sureties. The lower court held that it was within the statute and awarded judgment to the surety. The title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton, Pa., on the bond and in favor of various firms and individuals for material used in the construction of the vessel. The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment.

Several times it seemed he was about to yield to plans of colleagues to allow certain increases, but in the end he insisted on his point. He said he was

SUSPECT RELEASED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 20.—Albert Allen, "the man in the corduroy suit," held for investigation in connection with the Bernard murder case, was released late today. Sheriff Stead of Johnson, Kan., said today: "Allen was the mysterious stranger we were looking for. He was in the neighborhood about the time the crime was committed, but he told a straightforward story which we have verified in every particular, and I am convinced he is innocent. We are up in the air about this case as much as ever."

FILIPINOS POOR LEADERS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—"The Filipino is not fond of daily labor; he likes to work on shares; he likes to be in the shadow of some one else, who will look after his interests," said Dean C. Worcester, Philippine Secretary of the Interior, before the House Insular Affairs Committee today. Worcester, who has been examined in connection with the charges concerning the administration of the Philippine Islands, said he believed the tariff laws had been beneficial to Philippine planters. He also said that today there is not a modern sugar plantation in the islands.

CHICAGO WINTER STARTS TODAY.

When Sun Reaches Greatest Southing, Equalling the Obliquity of the Ecliptic, Then Is Really Time for Flannels—Today Likewise Shortest Day of Entire Year.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Old King Winter has been playing a joke on Chicago and the eastern country for a couple of weeks ago the chilling blasts brought ice and snow and the flannels went on and the line was called off. Most persons thought it was winter, but it wasn't. It was one of the frosty monarch's jokes.

Winter, real winter, figured down to minutes and seconds, doesn't arrive until 10:48 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The skaters and bob-sled devotees who have been enjoying themselves in the parks on the strength of winter having arrived have been misled.

Lieut. J. H. Comfort, head of the government hydrographic office in Chicago, is the man who has called King Winter's joke "doped."

He "doped" it out today and figured down to the precise second the time of the blasty one's arrival. Incidentally he discovered that tomorrow will be the shortest of the year, the sun rising at 7:15 o'clock a.m. and setting at 4:22 o'clock p.m.

For formula for arriving at the time when winter arrives is simple," said Lieut. Comfort. "It is arrived at from the fact that the sun moves in which the different co-ordinates of position of hourly differences are given for Greenwich mean time. These are easily reduced to our local mean time. By inspection we see between what two days the sun's movement changes from south to north, and then, by using the hourly difference, we see at what time it reaches its greatest southing, the ecliptic of that date. Simple, isn't it?"

For the second time, Mrs. Amelia Belle Allen of Breathitt county, Ky., was placed on trial on a charge of murder yesterday. She is alleged to have killed her husband, John Allen, a year ago and shot the latter to death as she knelt at a baby's cradle.

On the first trial Mrs. Allen was acquitted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Notwithstanding the fact that Chicago has not been hit by a blizzard yet, the city has experienced several "cold spells." Today the mercury dropped below the 20-above-zero mark and a chill wind was blowing.

WHITEWASH FOR LORIMER FOUGHT

Opposition Developing Over Exoneraton Report.

Senators May Force Matter
To Be Laid Over.

No Evidence Found Directly
Involving Solon.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—What may prove formidable opposition to the adoption of a bill for the exoneraton of Senator Lorimer as the result of investigation of the charges of bribery in connection with his election by the Illinois Legislature to succeed Senator Hopkins, said to have developed on the Senate floor today.

Several Senators are declared to have agreed that they would compel a postponement of the whole subject until after the holiday recess, in order that all members might have an opportunity to digest the testimony, as well as the report of the committee on elections.

According to authoritative information, the subcommittee was a unit in declaring there had been no evidence that Lorimer had been involved in the manner in the purchasing of votes of individual members of the Legislature, but that there was a difference of opinion as to what would have been the result if all the votes which had been charged with taint had been eliminated.

EXONERATION UNAUTHORIZED.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Old King Winter has been playing a joke on Chicago and the eastern country for a couple of weeks ago the chilling blasts brought ice and snow and the flannels went on and the line was called off. Most persons thought it was winter, but it wasn't. It was one of the frosty monarch's jokes.

Winter, real winter, figured down to minutes and seconds, doesn't arrive until 10:48 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The skaters and bob-sled devotees who have been enjoying themselves in the parks on the strength of winter having arrived have been misled.

Lieut. J. H. Comfort, head of the government hydrographic office in Chicago, is the man who has called King Winter's joke "doped."

He "doped" it out today and figured down to the precise second the time of the blasty one's arrival. Incidentally he discovered that tomorrow will be the shortest of the year, the sun rising at 7:15 o'clock a.m. and setting at 4:22 o'clock p.m.

For formula for arriving at the time when winter arrives is simple," said Lieut. Comfort. "It is arrived at from the fact that the sun moves in which the different co-ordinates of position of hourly differences are given for Greenwich mean time. These are easily reduced to our local mean time. By inspection we see between what two days the sun's movement changes from south to north, and then, by using the hourly difference, we see at what time it reaches its greatest southing, the ecliptic of that date. Simple, isn't it?"

AS A LETTER WRITER.Her Early Epistles to "Lucky" Baldwin so Warm
That The Sparks Fly When They're Read in Court.
That Gay Old Swain's Tender Missives of Passion Also
There—Unhappy Day on the Witness Stand.THE LOVE LETTERS of that experienced old swain, Lucky Bal-win, were introduced in the will case yesterday.Although Lucky spelled the word
"be" with two P's and the word short with an "e," his tender missives of passion seem to have lost nothing of fire or effectiveness thereby.The letters introduced, however, revealed the need of a witness not at all the rapacious pursuer of the innocent but who is now Mrs. Turnbull, and who is trying to break a $200,000 chunk off his estate. Rather, old "Lucky" appeared as the timid and shrinking millionaire with a passionate young lady from Boston trying to woo him.
They were so warm that the sparks flew in court while they were read.Mrs. Turnbull admitted the authorship of a series of these red-hot missives of love with a diabolical smile."Oh, I may have written them," she said and added scornfully, "Foolish school-girl letters."It was her second full day on the witness stand.

SHE CAN "COME BACK."

In many ways it was what prize
fight reporters would describe as Mrs.
day almost in hysterics, she came back yesterday cool and confident.
She looked pale and tired but full of fight when she turned to face Edwin McNab for cross-examination.They dragged up the ghost of Col.
Albert Pope, the millionaire automobile manufacturer, and tried to show that she was not so innocent as she asserts when she met "Lucky" Bal-win.She said that Col. Pope had invited her to lunch one day in Boston and there tried to assault her; for this he felt so penitent that he gave her $200 a month. She swore it wasn't to get her out of Boston and to save a scandal in his family."Well," said McNab, "he gave you this money to go to California."
"No, he didn't," said the witness, sharply. "He gave me the money without restrictions of any kind.""Why did he give it to you then?"
"Well, he was a philanthropic man.
He had helped hundreds of young men and women.""Ah," said McNab, "did he always administer his philanthropy with the aid of a detective and an attorney as in your case?""I don't know," she said, indifferently. She was asked if she had not signed a release to Col. Pope when she came West. She positively couldn't remember.They handed her a letter supposed to have been written by her to James Wood, her detective, giving a very different version of her relations with Col. Pope. She flatly denounced all the letters as forgeries.

SHE TELLS WOOD.

"If you saw Wood here, would you say that they were forgeries?" she was asked."If I saw Wood here I would tell God's truth, and that is that he is the wickedest man I ever saw.""Stand up, Mr. Wood," said McNab.
A little, gray-haired old man, with heavy, half-shut eyes, stood up. For a moment her face blanched, but quickly recovering herself, she went on with her examination.Every time she had a chance she "slipped one" to Wood, who, she realizes, will testify against her."You will have to ask Mr. Wood why he forged the letters," she would say.
"Since I found out that Wood was a man who couldn't be relied upon,"
she said once."I don't know why," she remarked again. "Unless because Wood was a detective and without principle."
"Is that a fact?" asked McNab. The exasperated McNab, who was trying to find out something about her memory of the letters."Unless," she said, "it is because he is the wickedest man I ever knew."
All of which "Wood" took with a cynical smile.

GETS BETTER OF IT.

In the morning, in the rapid give-and-take testimony, Mrs. Turnbull clearly got the better of it, owing to her peculiar talent for dragging in things to her advantage."Didn't you get down on your knees in Wood's office and take a terrible oath in relation to your intimacy with Col. Pope?""No, sir," she said, with a trembling voice. "But I got down on my knees before that man (terrible glance of disbelief asked) to make me make a million oaths if 'Lucky' Baldwin was not the father of my child."And she gave a glance of amusement down at McNab, who was trying to say: "Well, old boy, how did you like that come-back?"Although she admitted that a sister of Col. Pope had been to her to ask her to tell a white lie to Mrs. Pope, she swore she had never had criminal relations with the old millionaire.

WRITES AS "THE BLOND."

Nearly all afternoon they read aloud
her letters; one was to a horseman in Fresno—a very suggestive offer of her services, signed "The Blond"; all the others were to "Lucky" Baldwin.
Some were written before she ever saw him, and the others while she was trying to persuade the old man to support her as his daughter. She admitted the "Mr. Lewis Leach."The following letter was written to Lewis Leach, a Fresno horseman, with whose advertisement she had seen in a horseman's paper. It was dated shortly before she came out to be with Baldwin."My dear sir: I was born and raised in Vermont and love horses to distraction. Am twenty years old and will be 21 the 11th of next November. Am alone in the world, my own mistress and have got to earn my own living as am not rich by any means. Save your name in the Horseman in connection with the great International Running race. As I want to have a horse-long friend in Cal. to secure me a nice position, also further my interests in various ways
that I can go there in the Pacific
I have written to you. My Eastern Prince is Wesley P. Balch, but as I am going to Cal. to live for a while I shall need a count on the Pacific Coast. Now if you are a whole-souled gentleman with the usual good figure andfair-looking face, write me and enclose photograph and on receipt of same will tell you more about yours truly.The principal letters to Baldwin,
somewhat abbreviated in form, follow:
[Signed]
"MISS L. A. ASHLEY, or 'THE BLOND.'"

MRS. TURNBULL'S LETTERS.

"Dear Mr. Lucky Baldwin: Your letter of nearly one year or more ago was duly received. It was in answer to one I wrote you in the Spring of '08 asking for a position as secretary of stock farm. Now this hastily-scribbled affair will not doubt be a surprise to you.Many changes have come into my life since then. I am now left alone in the wide world, enclose illustration of girl like I was. It comes to my mind that you wrote me that if I wanted to come to California, you would come and fetch me. Will you still do so? Or send me the means to go? I will pay the money back out of the first that I earn. The world looks awful dark to me and I need of no one to turn to as a friend and counsel. I am now living with a

CUTTING A "MASHIE."

Young Woman Patches Him in the Face and Police Judge Sends Him to Jail Thirty Days.Jules H. Henshackle, charged with having accosted Miss Blanche Heier, a stranger, at Fifth and Broadway late Sunday night, was given a sentence of thirty days in the City Jail by Police Judge Chambers late yesterday afternoon. Miss Heier is employed in a candy store on Spring street, and was on her way home when approached by Henshackle.She struck him in the face with her fist, and he followed her to her home on Temple street and then tried to strike her as she entered the house.
The young woman screamed, attracting the attention of a police officer, who overtook Henshackle and arrested him.A brother of Henshackle appeared in court yesterday afternoon and made a plea for clemency for the young man.
Judge Chambers listened to the brother's appeal and then sentenced Henshack-le. On hearing that the payment of a $30 fine would secure Henshackle's release, the brother declared too much trouble had already been caused by the accused to induce him to give up any of his hard-earned money to get him out of trouble.

ORIENTAL APPAREL DISPLAY.

Through an unfortunate error in the composing room of The Times, the advertisement of the J. W. Robinson Company in Tuesday's issue showed some confusing price figures. Ladies interested in the magnificent display of oriental apparel will no doubt be pleased to learn of the correct figures which are as follows: $200 to $2000 open caques are offered at $75. Magnificent Chinese Mandarin coats worth from $80 to $150 will be sold at $50, and Japanese Kimonos worth $85 to $150 are offered at $50. These goods are of an unusual selection and at these prices will undoubtedly be cleared up in the next day or two. They will make exceptionally splendid gifts for Christmas.

NOBLEMAN TO
CONTEST WILL.Works As Doctor To Secure
Money For Fees.Claims Ten Million Dollar
Estate in Germany.Has Been Decorated By Two European Monarchs.After working valiantly for three years in order to get enough money to start a legal contest for a $10,000-000 estate, Dr. Samuel Balla of this city stated yesterday that he intends to leave for Breslau early in the new year to set the legal machinery in motion. He expects a long contest, but is so convinced of the justice of his claims that he says he is certain of success in the end.Dr. Balla is an Austrian nobleman but has doffed his titles during his residence in Los Angeles. His letters from across the Atlantic, however,
come addressed to him as "Mr. le Commandeur Chevalier Samuel Balla, in Los Angeles, North America."The estate for which he is about to sue is situated in the heart of Breslau, a city larger than Los Angeles and where property values are just as great. It consists of various parcels of real estate upon which are some of the largest hospitals in Germany. Breslau is a famous European city. It once belonged to Austria and was taken from that countryChevalier Samuel Balla, An Austrian nobleman who became a medical student in Los Angeles in order to obtain money with which to fight for a $10,000,000 estate in

WOMAN'S WHISPER
DECIDES CASE.WIFE LEARNS HUSBY LENDS
HIS CASH.Stage Asides to Grocer Did Not Escape Sharp Ears of Worthy Spouse—Her Testimony Proves Valuable in Justice Court, When Magistrate Appears to be in Doubt.A decision rendered by Justice Baird yesterday, to the effect that a married man is liable to his grocer for the money his wife secretly borrows may revolutionize the process of marketing in many families.The decision was handed down at the close of the suit of Paul M. Ralston against Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thacker.
Ralston formerly kept a grocery store
but recently disposed of it and took up the task of collecting the outstanding debts.He made a demand on Mrs. Thacker for the $30 which she alleged that she owed him, but she said she was unable to liquidate. He then asked her husband to pay up. The man of the house was much astonished. He asked his wife if she had received the money and she said she had not. He refused to settle the bill and Ralston brought suit.The grocer testified that Mrs. Thacker had borrowed from him in sums ranging from fifty cents to $5 until she owed him $30. She told him to say nothing to her husband about the transaction or add it to the grocery bill, she promised to pay as soon as she got commissions for getting new members into her lodge, said the witness.Mrs. Thacker told the court that she had not borrowed from the grocer and her husband said that he did not want to pay a bill his wife denied having contracted. The evidence was even until the wife of the grocer was called.
She testified that she had frequently seen Mrs. Thacker go up to her husband and whisper to him."Womanlike, you did not allow another woman's whisper in your husband's ear without finding out what she said, did you?" the court inquired with a smile."I certainly found out what she wanted to borrow money," was the reply.Ralston's successor was asked if Mrs.
Thacker borrowed money of him. There was an objection to the question, but before the court could rule on it, the witness replied that she was borrowing from him.The magistrate gave Ralston judgment against the Thackers for $30 and costs.

medicine, went to the universities at Paris and Berlin and became connected in a medical capacity with the courts of Portugal and Spain. The late King of Portugal, who preceded Manuel on the throne and was more unfortunate, being assassinated by the Crown Prince last year, personally decorated the Chevalier Balla and the court notes of the newspapers recorded the event, referred to "Eduardo Cavalheiro de casa real" for Dr. Comendador Alexandre Samuel Balla. In Madrid, also, royalty honored him, King Alfonso pinning upon his coat the royal red cross, a decoration for medical men.
After a remarkable experience at the capitals of Europe, including Vienna, Berlin, Lisbon and Madrid, Chevalier Balla decided to emigrate to the United States and seek a fortune. He came direct to San Francisco four years ago, stayed there six months and came to Los Angeles. He happened to mention to a Times reporter, shortly after his arrival, that he claimed to be heir to a Breslau estate worth $5,000,000 marks, or $10,000,000 in American money. He had by then become so well imbued with American ideas that he decided to put up a fight for the estate.
Being none too well supplied with actual cash the question was how to get the money necessary to begin a legal contest for these Breslau millions?
Being a medical man Chevalier Balla decided to put his knowledge to use. In order to secure the necessary degrees here he went through the medical college of the University of California on North Broadway. Passing the examinations successfully he set up as a physician with offices in the Temple Block. While treating patients and saving some of the money they paid in fees Dr. Balla, as he now prefers to be called having dropped his titles while in America, communicated with lawyers and government officials both at Breslau and Vienna. He stated yesterday that so satisfactory were things going that he has been asked by officials in Europe to return home and conduct in person the negotiations regarding the estate for his family and, if necessary, the fight for the Breslau property.
TO GO HOME TO FIGHT.
He asserted that the Governor of the State in which his old grandmother lives has taken the matter up officially. The Governor sent one of his officers to see the aged woman and the latter has written Dr. Balla that all the relatives met in conference recently and decided to aid him in fighting for the millions. "The best thing for you to do," the officer writes, "is to take the matter in your own hands and to come over here before the grandmother dies. It will assist you as far as I am able. We will go to Vienna and take the subject up with the Austrian government."
The Burgo-master of the State in which the grandmother lives, Herr C. Zarich, has also shown an interest in the affair and so have the curators of the great Breslau estate itself. One of the letters, Dr. Freup, wrote recently instructing Dr. Balla to forward certain papers to substantiate his claims and these are on the way now. The matter has progressed so favorably thus far that Dr. Balla said yesterday "I shall go to Breslau early in the new year and start the contest for the estate. Lawyers are already engaged for me in caring for preliminaries."
Dr. Balla, whether successful or not, will return to the United States if he wins he will come back a millionaire. He has taken out his papers as an American citizen.

Dr. W. L. Lewis, a veterinary surgeon, who has a livery stable and office at No. 213 East Third street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault with deadly weapon. J. W. Jones, a colored stable hand, is the complainant. He declared the other struck him on the head with a hammer because he was slow in his work.
Jones was taken to the Receiving Hospital to have his injuries treated. A deep depression over his eye was declared by Police Surgeon Carter yesterday. A serious wound, Lewis will be held to await the outcome.
In telling his side, the prisoner said he became involved in an altercation with Jones and that the latter jumped back and reached into his pocket. Lewis said he thought that the negro was reaching for a weapon, therefore he struck him with the hammer.

BROADER DEMAND IN BOND MARKET.

STOCKS IRREGULAR WITH BUT LITTLE TRADING.

Industrial Specialties Neglected. Almost Entirely During Session of New York Exchange—Much Better Feeling Reported Throughout West Because of Easter Moulding.

(Associated Press Night Report.) NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—A broader and more general demand for bonds was the most notable feature of today's session in the securities market. The stock market was only moderately active, and its tone for the most part irregular. It seems to be the prevailing opinion, however, that the financial situation has improved in the last few weeks. Trading in bonds was brisk, and the market was generally higher.

There was a further drain on the gold market of the Bank of England, which was the cause of the decline in the gold market. A further rise here in foreign exchange is expected, and the ability of gold imports for a time. The fall in net earnings of the first five months of the year, the annual report of the Missouri Pacific was considered favorable, and the stock of the company rose about 1 1/2 per cent. with a larger dividend, about $1.00 in excess of the previous year. United States bonds were unchanged.
